Investors finally have clarity on how the Gold coin industry operates

Weston, FL (PRWEB) August 24, 2009 – Michael Stabach, a long time gold coin dealer and owner of National Discount Coins in Weston, FL, reveals gold coin industry secrets which enable his company to keep a step ahead of the competition by offering lower prices.

"Very simply put, we don't spend money unnecessarily. Our competitors hire high commission salespeople and pay them on average a 7% - 10% commission on every order. We have no commission salespeople. Our competitors give away expensive glossy brochures, books, tapes, CD's, and DVD's to anyone who asks for it. We fax or email similar information saving us thousands of dollars each month in printing and postage. We don't run expensive TV and Radio campaigns with paid 'celebrity' endorsers which also saves us thousands of dollars per month. We are a small boutique firm that operates a strictly mail order business with no retail store or large call center. We save thousands each month by eliminating unnecessary staff and overhead. Our large competitors hire between 50 and 150 employees. We have 5.

The bottom line; most large coin firms reveal in the fine print of their paperwork that their fees average 29% or even more per order. By keeping our operating expenses as low as possible, our fees average less than half of what the big companies are charging for the exact same quality products with just as good, if not better service."

Michael Stabach's company, National Discount Coins, is located in Weston, FL and is available to assist with any gold coin purchase or liquidation for investment portfolios or gold coin IRAs.
